1 Plaintiffs Joan MacQuarrie and Brenda Keegan ("Plaintiffs"), on behalf of themselves 2 and all others similarly situated (the "Classes" as defined below), upon personal knowledge as to 3 the facts pertaining to themselves and upon information and belief as to all other matters, and 4 based on the investigation of counsel, brings this class action for damages, injunctive relief and 5 other relief pursuant to federal antitrust laws and state antitrust, unfair competition, and 6 consumer protection laws, and the common law of unjust enrichment, demand a trial by jury, and 7 allege as follows:

8 I. NATURE OF ACTION

9 1. This lawsuit is brought as a proposed class action against Defendants Nippon 10 Yusen Kabushiki Kaisha ("NYK Line"), NYK Line (North America) Inc. ("NYK America"), 11 Mitsui O.S.K. Lines, Ltd. ("MOL"), Kawasaki Kisen Kaisha, Ltd. ("K" Line), "K" Line
 12 America, Inc. ("K" Line America"), EUKOR Vehicle Carriers Inc. ("EUKOR"), Wallenius 13 Wilhelmsen Logistics AS ("WWL"), Wilh. Wilhelmsen Holding ASA ("WW Holding"), Wilh.
 14 Wilhelmsen ASA ("WW ASA"), Wallenius Wilhelmsen Logistics Americas LLC ("WWL 15 America"), Wallenius Lines AB ("Wallenius"), Compañía Sud Americana De Vapores S.A.
 16 ("CSAV"), Toyofuji Shipping Co., Ltd. ("Toyofuji") and Nissan Motor Car Carrier Co., Ltd.
 17 ("Nissan") (all as defined below, and collectively the "Defendants"), and unnamed co-18 conspirators, providers of Vehicle Carrier Services (defined below) globally and in the United 19 States, for engaging in at least a five-year-long conspiracy to fix, raise, maintain and/or stabilize 20 prices, and allocate the market and customers in the United States for Vehicle Carrier Services.

21 2. "Vehicle Carriers" transport large numbers of cars, trucks, or other automotive 22 vehicles including agriculture and construction equipment (collectively "Vehicles") across large 23 bodies of water using specialized cargo ships known as Roll On/Roll Off vessels ("RoRos"). As 24 used herein, "Vehicle Carrier Services" refers to the paid ocean transportation of Vehicles by 25 RoRo.

26 3. Plaintiffs seek to represent all persons and entities in the United States who 27 indirectly purchased from any Defendant or any current or former subsidiary or affiliate thereof, 28 or any co-conspirator, Vehicle Carrier Services for personal use and not for resale, incorporated

1 into the price of a new Vehicle purchased or leased during the period from and including January
2 2008 through such time as the anticompetitive effects of Defendants' conduct ceased (the "Class 3 Period").

4 4. The Defendants provide, market, and/or sell Vehicle Carrier Services throughout 5 the United States.

6 5. The Defendants, and their co-conspirators (as yet unknown), agreed, combined, 7 and conspired to fix, raise, maintain and/or stabilize prices and allocate the market and customers 8 in the United States for Vehicle Carrier Services.

9 6. Competition authorities in the United States, the European Union, Canada and 10 Japan have been investigating a possible global cartel among Vehicle Carriers since at least 11 September 2012. Both the United States Department of Justice's Antitrust Division ("DOJ") and 12 Canada's Competition Bureau ("CCB") are investigating unlawful, anticompetitive conduct in 13 the market for ocean shipping of cars, trucks, construction equipment and other products. The 14 Japanese Fair Trade Commission ("JFTC") and European Commission Competition Authority 15 ("EC") have also conducted coordinated dawn raids at the Tokyo and European offices of several 16 of the Defendants.

17 7. Defendants and their co-conspirators participated in a combination and conspiracy 18 to suppress and eliminate competition in the Vehicle Carrier Services market by agreeing to fix, 19 stabilize and maintain the prices of, Vehicle Carrier Services sold to Vehicle manufacturers and 20 others in the United States. The combination and conspiracy engaged in by the Defendants and 21 their co-conspirators was in unreasonable restraint of interstate and foreign trade and commerce 22 in violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1, state antitrust, unfair competition, and 23 consumer protection laws and the common law of unjust enrichment.

24 8. As a direct result of the anticompetitive and unlawful conduct alleged herein, 25 Plaintiffs and the Classes paid artificially inflated prices for Vehicle Carrier Services 26 incorporated into the price of a new Vehicle purchased or leased during the Class Period, and 27 have thereby suffered antitrust injury to their business or property.

II. JURISDICTION AND VENUE

9. Plaintiffs bring this action under Section 16 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. § 26) to secure equitable and injunctive relief against Defendants for violating Section 1 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. § 1). Plaintiffs also allege claims for actual and exemplary damages pursuant to state antitrust, unfair competition, and consumer protection laws, and the common law of unjust enrichment, and seek to obtain restitution, recover damages and secure other relief against the Defendants for violations of those state laws and common law. Plaintiffs and the Classes also seek attorneys' fees, costs, and other expenses under federal and state law.

10. This Court has jurisdiction over the subject matter of this action pursuant to Section 16 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. § 26), Section 1 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. § 1), and Title 28, United States Code, Sections 1331 and 1337. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction of the state law claims pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1332(d) and 1367, in that (i) this is a class action in which the matter or controversy exceeds the sum of $5,000,000, exclusive of interests and costs, and in which some members of the proposed Classes are citizens of a state different from some of the Defendants; and (ii) Plaintiffs' state law claims form part of the same case or controversy as their federal claims under Article III of the United States Constitution.

11. Venue is proper in this district pursuant to Section 12 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. § 22), and 28 U.S.C. §§ 1391 (b), (c), and (d), because a substantial part of the events giving rise to Plaintiffs' claims occurred in this District, a substantial portion of the affected interstate trade and commerce discussed below has been carried out in this District, and one or more of the Defendants reside, are licensed to do business in, are doing business in, had agents in, or are found or transact business in this District.

12. This Court has in personam jurisdiction over the Defendants because each, either directly or through the ownership and/or control of its subsidiaries, inter alia: (a) transacted business in the United States, including in this District; (b) directly or indirectly sold or marketed Vehicle Carrier Services throughout the United States, including in this District; (c) had substantial aggregate contacts with the United States as a whole, including in this District; or (d) were engaged in an illegal price-fixing conspiracy that was directed at, and had a direct,

1 substantial, reasonably foreseeable and intended effect of causing injury to, the business or 2 property of persons and entities residing in, located in, or doing business throughout the United 3 States, including in this District. The Defendants also conduct business throughout the United 4 States, including in this District, and they have purposefully availed themselves of the laws of 5 the United States.

6 13. The Defendants engaged in conduct both inside and outside of the United States 7 that caused direct, substantial and reasonably foreseeable and intended anticompetitive effects 8 upon interstate commerce within the United States.

9 14. The activities of the Defendants and their co-conspirators were within the flow of, 10 were intended to, and did have, a substantial effect on interstate commerce of the United States.
11 The Defendants' Vehicle Carrier Services are sold in the flow of interstate commerce.

12 15. Vehicles, the prices of which include Vehicle Carrier Services, transported from 13 abroad by the Defendants and sold for use within the United States are goods brought into the 14 United States for sale, and therefore constitute import commerce. To the extent any such 15 vehicles and the related Vehicle Carrier Services are purchased in the United States, and such 16 vehicles or Vehicle Carrier Services do not constitute import commerce, the Defendants' 17 unlawful activities with respect thereto, as more fully alleged herein during the Class Period, 18 had, and continue to have, a direct, substantial and reasonably foreseeable effect on United States 19 commerce. The anticompetitive conduct, and its effect on United States commerce described 20 herein, proximately caused antitrust injury to Plaintiffs and members of the Classes in the United 21 States.

22 16. By reason of the unlawful activities hereinafter alleged, Defendants substantially 23 affected commerce throughout the United States, causing injury to Plaintiffs and members of the 24 Classes. The Defendants, directly and through their agents, engaged in activities affecting all 25 states, to fix, raise, maintain and/or stabilize prices, and allocate the market and customers in the 26 United States for Vehicle Carrier Services, which conspiracy unreasonably restrained trade and 27 adversely affected the market for Vehicle Carrier Services.
28

17. The Defendants' conspiracy and unlawful conduct described herein adversely affected persons and entities in the United States who purchased vehicles for personal use and not for resale, including Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes.

V. FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

A. The Vehicle Carrier Industry

37. A RoRo ship is a special type of ocean vessel that allows wheeled Vehicles to be driven and parked on its decks for long voyages. These ships, also known as Vehicle Carriers, have special ramps to permit easy access, high sides to protect the cargo during transport, and numerous decks to allow storage of a large number and variety of Vehicles.

38. There are different types of RoRo ships. A Pure Vehicle Carrier ("PCC") transports only cars and a Pure Car and Truck Carrier ("PCTC") transports cars, trucks, and other four wheeled vehicles. Although a RoRo ship cannot transport containers, some hybrid RoRo/container ships have been built.

WW ASA's MV Tønsberg RoRo vessel

39. Vehicle Carriers are a defined submarket of the larger bulk shipping market. World trade exploded after the proliferation of container ships. These ships allow a large range of goods, such as food and consumer electronics, to be packed in standard-sized containers for quick loading and delivery. However, cars, trucks, and heavy machinery, due to their larger and more irregular shapes, are not easily shipped in containers. Furthermore, there are no reasonable substitutes for the shipment of Vehicles by sea because any alternatives, such as air transportation, would be too costly.

40. For new Vehicles, the original equipment manufacturers ("OEMs") – mostly large automotive, construction and agricultural manufacturers – purchase Vehicle Carrier Services directly from the Defendants. The OEMs and Vehicle Carriers generally enter into long-term shipping arrangements.

41. Defendants and their co-conspirators provided Vehicle Carrier Services to OEMs for transportation of Vehicles sold in the United States and elsewhere. Defendants and their co-conspirators provided Vehicle Carrier Services (a) in the United States for the transportation of Vehicles manufactured elsewhere for export to and sale in the United States, and (b) in other countries for the transportation of Vehicles manufactured elsewhere for export to and sale in the United States.

42. Plaintiffs and members of the proposed Classes purchased Vehicle Carrier Services indirectly from one or more of the Defendants by virtue of their purchase or lease of a new Vehicle during the Class Period.

43. The annual market for Vehicle Carrier Services in the United States is nearly a billion dollars. Specifically, for the transportation of new, imported motor vehicles manufactured elsewhere for export to and sale in the United States, the market is between $600 and $800 million each year.

B. The Market Structure and Characteristics Support the Existence of a Conspiracy

44. The structure and other characteristics of the market for Vehicle Carrier Services are conducive to a price-fixing agreement and have made collusion particularly attractive. Specifically, the Vehicle Carrier Services market: (1) has high barriers to entry; (2) has inelasticity of demand; (3) is highly concentrated; (4) is highly homogenized; (5) is rife with opportunities to meet and conspire; and (6) has excess capacity.

1. The Market for Vehicle Carrier Services Has High Barriers to Entry

45. A collusive arrangement that raises product prices above competitive levels would, under basic economic principles, attract new entrants seeking to benefit from the supra-competitive pricing. When, however, there are significant barriers to entry, new entrants are much less likely to enter the market. Thus, barriers to entry help facilitate the formation and maintenance of a cartel.

46. There are substantial barriers that preclude, reduce, or make more difficult entry into the Vehicle Carrier Services market. Transporting Vehicles without damage across oceans requires highly specialized and sophisticated equipment, resources, and industry knowledge. The ships that make such transport possible are highly specialized. Such ships are purposely built to an unusual design that includes high sides, multiple interior decks, and no container cargo space. These characteristics restrict the use of the ships to the Vehicle Carrier Services market. A new entrant into the business would face costly and lengthy start-up costs, including multi-million dollar costs associated with manufacturing or acquiring a fleet of Vehicle Carriers

1 and other equipment, energy, transportation, distribution infrastructure and skilled labor. It is 2 estimated that the capital cost of a RoRo is at least $95 million.<sup>1</sup>

3 47. Additionally, the nature of the Vehicle Carrier Services industry requires the 4 establishment of a network of routes to serve a particular set of customers with whom 5 Defendants establish long-term relationships. The existence of these established routes and long-6 term contracts increases switching costs for shippers and present an additional barrier to entry.

7 48. The Vehicle Carrier Services market also involves economies of scale and scope, 8 which present additional barriers to entry.

9 (a) Economies of scale exist where firms can lower the average cost per unit through 10 increased production, since fixed costs are shared over a larger number of units. Fuel accounts 11 for nearly 50% of all operational costs for Vehicle Carriers. However Vehicle Carriers are less 12 sensitive to fuel prices than other modes of transportation, providing opportunities to exploit 13 economies of scale. As fuel prices increased in the last 5-10 years, market participants were 14 incentivized to increase the average size of vessels. This reflects the presence of economies of 15 scale, because fuel costs did not increase proportionally as vessel size grew.

16 (b) Economies of scope exist where firms achieve a cost advantage from providing a 17 wide variety of products or services. The major Vehicle Carriers, including Defendants, own 18 related shipping or transportation businesses they can utilize to provide additional services to 19 clients, such as the operation of dedicated shipping terminals and inland transportation of 20 Vehicles.

21 2. There is Inelasticity of Demand for Vehicle Carrier Services

22 49. "Elasticity" is a term used to describe the sensitivity of supply and demand to 23 changes in one or the other. For example, demand is said to be "inelastic" if an increase in the 24 price of a product results in only a small decline in the quantity sold of that product, if any. In 25 other words, customers have nowhere to turn for alternative, cheaper products of similar quality, 26 and so continue to purchase despite a price increase.

27 <sup>1</sup> Asaf Ashar, Marine Highways' New Direction, J. OF COM. 38 (Nov. 21, 2011).

1           50. For a cartel to profit from raising prices above competitive levels, demand must 2 be relatively inelastic at competitive prices. Otherwise, increased prices would result in 3 declining sales, revenues, and profits as customers purchased substitute products or declined to 4 buy altogether. Inelastic demand is a market characteristic that facilitates collusion, allowing 5 producers to raise their prices without triggering customer substitution and lost sales revenue.

6           51. Demand for Vehicle Carrier Services is highly inelastic. This is because there are 7 no close substitutes for this service. A Vehicle Carrier is the only ocean vessel that has the 8 carrying capacity for a large number of Vehicles. A Vehicle Carrier is also more versatile than 9 other substitutes because it is built to adjust to various shapes and sizes. Because a container 10 ship functions based on the uniformity of the cargo—everything must fit within the standardized 11 containers—it is not conducive to transporting larger and more irregularly-shaped goods, such as 12 cars, trucks, and agricultural and construction equipment. Foreign OEMs must employ Vehicle 13 Carrier Services to facilitate the sale of their Vehicles in North America, regardless of whether 14 prices are kept at supra-competitive levels. There is simply no alternative for high volume 15 transoceanic transportation of Vehicles to the United States.

16           3. The Market for Vehicle Carriers Is Highly Concentrated

17           52. A concentrated market is more susceptible to collusion and other anticompetitive 18 practices.

19           53. The Defendants dominate the global Vehicle Carrier Services market. Defendants 20 controlled over 70 percent of the Vehicle Carrier Services market during the Class Period.<sup>2</sup>

Defendants' Market Share in Global Vehicle Carriers

* Based on Capacity of Vessels

Source: Hesnes Shipping AS, The Car Carrier Market 2010

4. The Services Provided by Vehicle Carriers Are Highly Homogeneous

54. Vehicle Carrier Services are a commodity-like service, which is interchangeable among Vehicle Carriers.

55. When products or services offered by different suppliers are viewed as interchangeable by purchasers, it is easier for suppliers to unlawfully agree on the price for the product or service in question, and it is easier to effectively police the collusively set prices. This makes it easier to form and sustain an unlawful cartel.

56. Vehicle Carrier Services are qualitatively the same across different carriers. Each Defendant has the capability to provide the same or similar Vehicle Carrier Services and Vehicle Carrier Service customers make purchase decisions based primarily on price. The core considerations for a purchaser will be where, when, and how much. This commoditization and interchangeability of Vehicle Carrier Services facilitated Defendants' conspiracy by making coordination on price much simpler than if Defendants had numerous distinct products or services with varying features.

57. As the graph above demonstrates, pricing for Vehicle Carrier Services (per vehicle) remained relatively flat from 2001 to 2006. In 2001, the per vehicle price was approximately $301.30, while in 2006 the per vehicle price was $305.79, an increase of less than 2%.

58. Beginning just prior to the Class Period, the price of Vehicle Carrier Services has increased by 23%.

59. The increase in the price of Vehicle Carrier Services far outpaced any increase in demand during the Class Period.

60. In the absence of an unlawful price-fixing conspiracy, according to the laws of supply and demand, prices would not increase at a rate greater than the rate of demand, yet that is exactly what happened in the Vehicle Carrier Services market during the Class Period.

5. Defendants Had Ample Opportunities to Meet and Conspire

61. Defendants attended industry events where they had the opportunity to meet, have improper discussions under the guise of legitimate business contacts, and perform acts necessary for the operation and furtherance of the conspiracy. For example, there are frequent trade shows for shipping companies around the globe, such as the Breakbulk conferences<sup>3</sup> and the biennial RoRo trade show in Europe.

62. Defendants "K" Line and NYK Line are also members of the Transpacific Stabilization Agreement (TSA), which consists of "major ocean container shipping lines that Breakbulk Magazine's global events include Breakbulk Transportation Conferences & Exhibitions, which "are the largest international events focused on traditional breakbulk logistics, heavy-lift transportation and project cargo trade issues." The conferences provide opportunities to "meet with specialized cargo carriers, ports, terminals, freight forwarders, heavy equipment transportation companies and packers." 1 carry cargo from Asia to ports and inland points in the U.S.” According to the TSA website, it 2 provides a forum for its members to, inter alia,:

- 3 • Meet, exchange market information, and jointly conduct market research; and
- 4 • Develop voluntary, non-binding guidelines for rates and charges.

5 See About TSA at <http://www.tsacarriers.org/about.html>. TSA meetings, which are ostensibly 6 held to set rates for container shipping, provide an opportunity for its members, including 7 Defendants “K” Line and NYK Line, to discuss Vehicle shipping markets, routes, and rates and 8 engage in illegal price fixing, customer allocation and bid rigging conspiracies. In fact, 9 Defendants “K” Line, NYK Line, and MOL have already been fined by the DOJ, JFTC, EC, the 10 CCB, and various other antitrust organizations for their roles in a conspiracy to fix air freight 11 forwarding fees across several continents.

12 63. Additionally, Defendants routinely enter into joint “vessel sharing” or “space 13 charter” agreements. These agreements allow shipping lines to reserve amounts of space or 14 “slots” on one another’s ships. Vessel sharing agreements are very common in the international 15 maritime shipping industry, comprising approximately 79% of all agreements registered with the 16 Federal Maritime Commission (“FMC”). While allegedly entered into for space charter 17 purposes, these agreements provide an opportunity for Defendants to discuss Vehicle shipping 18 markets, routes, and rates and engage in illegal price fixing and bid rigging conspiracies.

19 64. The very nature of the negotiations between Vehicle Carriers and OEMs also 20 facilitates collusion among Vehicle Carriers. Soren Tousgaard Jensen, Managing Director of 21 WWL Russia has explained, using Japan as an example,

22 [T]he manufacturers there, in order to get the right frequency, the right market coverage 23 and the right ports, have often called in two, three, sometimes four shipping lines around 24 the table and said that they would spread their volumes between them, depending on how 25 competitive they were. The shipping lines have to work together to find ways of not 26 having ships in the same position and ways of having one line deliver at the beginning of the month and another mid-month.<sup>4</sup>

1        6.        The Market for Vehicle Carrier Services Has Excess Capacity

2        65.        Excess capacity occurs when a market is capable of supplying more of a product 3 or service than is needed. This often means that demand is less than the output the market has 4 the capability to produce. Academic literature suggests, and courts have found, that the presence 5 of excess capacity can facilitate collusion.<sup>5</sup>

6        66.        Significantly, the market for Vehicle Carrier Services has operated in a state of 7 excess capacity since 2008. The tables below demonstrate that while the capacity of Vehicle
8 Carriers to transport Vehicles has increased since 2007, the utilization rate of Vehicle Carriers 9 has fallen, and remained stable at a rate of approximately 83% since 2010.

67. In the face of such excess capacity, Defendants agreed to reduce capacity and increase prices through coordinated “slow steaming.” Slow steaming involves lowering a carrier’s speed to conserve on fuel costs. NYK Line, for example, has used slow steaming for container ships and Vehicle Carriers since 2010. By elongating the time it takes to make ocean crossings, Vehicle Carriers are able to use more ships at the same time, thereby decreasing capacity and creating artificial capacity shortages.

68. In 2011, the FMC opened an investigation into slow steaming after reportedly receiving complaints from shippers.<sup>6</sup> Roy Pearson, deputy director of the FMC’s Bureau of Trade Analysis, told the FMC that academic studies of slow steaming showed carriers could save $3 billion per year in fuel costs.<sup>7</sup> As part of its investigation, the FMC issued a Notice of Inquiry soliciting public comment on the impact of slow steaming on United States ocean liner commerce. In response, the National Industrial Transportation League, an association representing shippers, commented that despite the cost savings generated by slow steaming, many League members had actually “experienced increased shipping costs . . . .”<sup>8</sup>

69. Defendants’ practices of slow steaming and vessel sharing represent concerted, collusive efforts to reduce output in order to increase prices despite overcapacity in the Vehicle Carrier Services market. By acting in concert pursuant to their conspiracy, Defendants decreased the availability of Vehicle Carrier Services in the market, which caused prices to rise artificially during the Class Period.

<sup>6</sup> Specifically, the FMC is investigating the “economic effects” of slow steaming to determine whether it is causing “unreasonable constraints” on the international supply chain.

the availability of Vehicle Carrier Services in the market, which caused prices to rise artificially during the Class Period.

C. There Is Strong Evidence of Collusion in the Vehicle Carrier Services Market

1. Defendants Raised Prices at a Rate that Far Exceeded Demand

71. Prices for Vehicle Carrier Services have been generally increasing since 2006.

2. Defendants Previously Colluded in Different Markets

72. The affiliates and subsidiaries of certain Defendants have recently pled guilty and agreed to pay millions of dollars in fines for violating the antitrust laws in other markets.

73. In 2007, the DOJ and EC launched an investigation into price fixing among international air freight forwarders, including certain affiliates and subsidiaries of Defendants. On October 10 of that year, the EC launched unannounced inspections at the premises of various international air freight forwarding companies with the help and coordination of various other nations' antitrust enforcement groups.

74. On March 19, 2009, the JFTC ordered 12 companies to pay $94.7 million in fines for violations of the Japanese Antimonopoly Act ("AMA"). Included among the 12 companies were "K" Line Logistics, Ltd., a subsidiary of Defendant "K" Line, Yusen Air & Sea Services Co., Ltd., a subsidiary of Defendant NYK Line, and MOL Logistics (Japan) Co., Ltd., a subsidiary of Defendant MOL.

1        75. The JFTC concluded that the companies had, over a five-year period, met and 2 agreed to, among other things, the amount of fuel surcharges, security charges, and explosive 3 inspection charges that they would charge their international air freight forwarding customers.
4 The agreements were, according to the JFTC, negotiated at meetings of the Japan Aircargo 5 Forwarders Association.

6        76. Yusen Logistics Co., Ltd. filed a complaint in April 2009 requesting a hearing to 7 review the JFTC's orders, and the Tokyo High Court upheld the orders on November 9, 2012.

8        77. On September 30, 2011, MOL Logistics (Japan) Co., Ltd. pleaded guilty to a 9 Criminal Information in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia charging it 10 with Sherman Act violations related to price fixing. MOL is one of 16 companies that agreed to 11 plead guilty or have pled guilty as a result of the DOJ's freight forwarding investigation, which 12 has resulted in more than $120 million in criminal fines to date. According to the Criminal 13 Information filed against MOL Logistics (Japan) Co. Ltd., it and its co-conspirators 14 accomplished their conspiracy by:

15            (a) Participating in meetings, conversations, and communications to discuss 16 certain components of freight forwarding service fees to be charged on air cargo 17 shipments from Japan to the United States;

18            (b) Agreeing, during those meetings, conversations, and communications, on 19 one or more components of the freight forwarding service fees to be charged on air cargo 20 shipments from Japan to the United States;

21            (c) Levying freight forwarding service fees, and accepting payments for 22 services provided for, air cargo shipments from Japan to the United States, in accordance 23 with the agreements reached; and

24            (d) Engaging in meetings, conversations, and communications for the purpose 25 of monitoring and enforcing adherence to the agreed-upon freight forwarding service 26 fees.

27        78. On March 28, 2012, the EC fined 14 international groups of companies, including 28 Yusen Shenda Air & Sea Service (Shanghai) Ltd., a subsidiary of Defendant NYK Line, a total

1 of $219 million for their participation in the air cargo cartels and violating European Union 2 antitrust rules. According to the EC, “[i]n four distinct cartels, the cartelists established and 3 coordinated four different surcharges and charging mechanisms, which are component elements 4 of the final price billed to customers for these services.”

5 79. On March 8, 2013, the DOJ announced that “K” Line Logistics, Ltd. and Yusen 6 Logistics Co., Ltd., a subsidiary of Defendant NYK Line, agreed to pay criminal fines of 7 $3,507,246 and $15,428,207, respectively, for their roles in a conspiracy to fix certain freight-8 forwarding fees for cargo shipped by air from the United States to Japan. As with MOL
 9 Logistics (Japan) Co. Ltd., “K” Line Logistics, Ltd. and Yusen Logistics Co., Ltd. pleaded guilty 10 to meeting with co-conspirators, agreeing to what freight forwarding service fees should be 11 charged on air cargo shipments, and actually levying those fees on its customers from about 12 September 2002 until at least November 2007.

13 3. Competition Authorities Have Launched and Coordinated a Global 14 Government Investigation into Price-Fixing in the Market for Vehicle
Carrier Services

15 80. United States, Canadian, Japanese, and European competition authorities have 16 initiated a global, coordinated antitrust investigation concerning the unlawful conspiracy alleged 17 herein. The investigation originated in the United States after an American shipping company 18 complained of Defendants’ conspiracy to the DOJ.

19 81. On September 6, 2012, the JFTC executed raids at the Japanese offices of NYK
 20 Line, MOL, “K” Line, WWL, and EUKOR as part of an investigation into anticompetitive 21 conduct related to Vehicle Carrier Services. Defendant “K” Line confirmed in a statement to its 22 shareholders, as part of its FY2012 2nd Quarter report, that it was visited by a JFTC 23 investigation team on suspicion of violating Japan’s Antimonopoly Act in terms of transporting 24 cars and wheeled construction machinery. Defendants NYK Line and MOL further confirmed 25 that their Japanese offices had been searched.

26 82. The Japan Daily Press reported that a JFTC official said the cartel “was formed to 27 deal with the rising fuel charges, personnel costs and shipbuilding expenses.” According to the 28

1 article, “apparently some companies formed smaller groups for specific shipping routes, such as 2 for Europe, North America and other Asian nations” and the three major Japanese firms – NYK 3 Line, “K” Line and MOL – played “a big role in this setup.” “The scrupulous companies were 4 controlling the competition and manipulating transport orders from carmakers.”

5 83. Defendant WW ASA confirmed in a press release on September 7, 2012 that it 6 had received a request for information from the CCB, and that (i) its subsidiaries, WWL and 7 EUKOR had been visited by the JFTC as part of an investigation related to the Japan 8 Antimonopoly Act; (ii) WWL had received requests for information from the EC, DOJ and 9 CCB; and (iii) EUKOR had received requests for information from the DOJ and the CCB.
10 According to Defendant WW ASA, the purpose of the requests made to WWL and EUKOR “is 11 to ascertain whether there is evidence of any infringement of competition law related to possible 12 price cooperation between carriers and allocation of customers.”

13 84. On the same day, in coordination with United States and Japanese authorities, the 14 EC carried out additional unannounced inspections at the European offices of several maritime 15 shipping companies suspected of operating a cartel. According to the EC, it carried out the 16 inspections in coordination with United States and Japanese competition authorities, and “ha[d] 17 reasons to believe that the companies concerned may have violated Article 101 of the [Treaty on 18 the functioning of the European Union] TFEU prohibiting cartels and restrictive business 19 practices.”

20 85. The Japanese Business Daily reported that the shipping affiliates of Toyota Motor 21 Corp. and Nissan Motor Co. were also among the companies raided by the JFTC. Toyota Motor 22 Corp.’s shipping affiliate is Defendant ToyoFuji, and Nissan Motor Co.’s is Defendant Nissan.

23 86. Defendant CSAV issued a statement in mid-September revealing that its 24 employees had received subpoenas from the DOJ and CCB in connection with the suspected 25 Vehicle Carrier Services cartel. Defendant CSAV stated, “[t]he investigation seeks to inquire 26 into the existence of antitrust law violations related to cooperation agreements on prices and 27 allocation of clients between car carriers.”
28

88. Plaintiffs bring this action on behalf of themselves and as a class action under Rule 23(a) and (b)(2) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, seeking equitable and injunctive relief on behalf of the following class (the “Nationwide Class”):

89. Plaintiffs also bring this action on behalf of themselves and as a class action under Rule 23(a) and (b)(3) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure seeking damages pursuant to the common law of unjust enrichment and the state antitrust, unfair competition, and consumer protection laws of the states listed below (the “Plaintiffs’ States”) on behalf of the following class (the “Damages Class”):

90. The Nationwide Class and the Damages Class are referred to herein as the “Classes.” Excluded from the Classes are Defendants, their parent companies, subsidiaries and affiliates, any co-conspirators, federal governmental entities and instrumentalities of the federal government, states and their subdivisions, agencies and instrumentalities, and persons who purchased Vehicle Carrier Services directly.

1        91. While Plaintiffs do not know the exact number of the members of the Classes, 2 Plaintiffs believe there are (at least) thousands of members in each Class.

3        92. Common questions of law and fact exist as to all members of the Classes. This is 4 particularly true given the nature of Defendants' conspiracy, which was generally applicable to 5 all the members of both Classes, thereby making appropriate relief with respect to the Classes as 6 a whole. Such questions of law and fact common to the Classes include, but are not limited to:

- 7        (a) Whether the Defendants and their co-conspirators engaged in a combination and 8 conspiracy among themselves to fix, raise, maintain or stabilize the prices of Vehicle 9 Carrier Services sold in the United States;
- 10        (b) The identity of the participants of the alleged conspiracy;
- 11        (c) The duration of the alleged conspiracy and the acts carried out by Defendants and 12 their co-conspirators in furtherance of the conspiracy;
- 13        (d) Whether the alleged conspiracy violated the Sherman Act, as alleged in the First 14 Claim for Relief;
- 15        (e) Whether the alleged conspiracy violated state antitrust and unfair competition 16 law, and/or state consumer protection law, as alleged in the Second and Third Claims for 17 Relief;
- 18        (f) Whether the Defendants unjustly enriched themselves to the detriment of the 19 Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes, thereby entitling Plaintiffs and the members 20 of the Classes to disgorgement of all benefits derived by Defendants, as alleged in the 21 Fourth Claim for Relief;
- 22        (g) Whether the conduct of the Defendants and their co-conspirators, as alleged in 23 this Complaint, caused injury to the business or property of Plaintiffs and the members 24 of the Classes;
- 25        (h) The effect of the alleged conspiracy on the prices of Vehicle Carrier Services sold 26 in the United States during the Class Period;
- 27        (i) Whether Plaintiffs and members of the Classes had any reason to know or suspect 28 the conspiracy, or any means to discover the conspiracy;

(j) Whether the Defendants and their co-conspirators fraudulently concealed the conspiracy's existence from the Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes;

(k) The appropriate injunctive and related equitable relief for the Nationwide Class; and

93. Plaintiffs' claims are typical of the claims of the members of the Classes, and Plaintiffs will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the Classes. Plaintiffs and all members of the Classes are similarly affected by Defendants' wrongful conduct in that they paid artificially inflated prices for Vehicle Carrier Services purchased indirectly from the Defendants and/or their co-conspirators.

94. Plaintiffs' claims arise out of the same common course of conduct giving rise to the claims of the other members of the Classes. Plaintiffs' interests are coincident with, and not antagonistic to, those of the other members of the Classes. Plaintiffs are represented by counsel who are competent and experienced in the prosecution of antitrust and class action litigation.

95. The questions of law and fact common to the members of the Classes predominate over any questions affecting only individual members, including legal and factual issues relating to liability and damages.

96. Class action treatment is a superior method for the fair and efficient adjudication of the controversy, in that, among other things, such treatment will permit a large number of similarly situated persons to prosecute their common claims in a single forum simultaneously, efficiently and without the unnecessary duplication of evidence, effort and expense that numerous individual actions would engender. The benefits of proceeding through the class mechanism, including providing injured persons or entities with a method for obtaining redress for claims that it might not be practicable to pursue individually, substantially outweigh any difficulties that may arise in management of this class action.

97. The prosecution of separate actions by individual members of the Classes would create a risk of inconsistent or varying adjudications, establishing incompatible standards of conduct for Defendants.

VII. PLAINTIFFS AND THE CLASSES SUFFERED ANTITRUST INJURY

98. The Defendants' price-fixing conspiracy had the following effects, among others:

(a) Price competition has been restrained or eliminated with respect to Vehicle Carrier Services;

(b) The prices of Vehicle Carrier Services have been fixed, raised, maintained, or stabilized at artificially inflated levels;

(c) Indirect purchasers of Vehicle Carrier Services have been deprived of free and open competition;

(d) Indirect purchasers of Vehicle Carrier Services paid artificially inflated prices.

99. During the Class Period, Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes paid supra-competitive prices for Vehicle Carrier Services. OEMs and automobile dealers passed on the inflated charges to purchasers and lessees of new Vehicles. Those overcharges have unjustly enriched Defendants.

100. The market for Vehicle Carrier Services and the market for Vehicles are inextricably linked and intertwined because the market for Vehicle Carrier Services exists to serve the Vehicle market. Without the Vehicles, the Vehicle Carrier Services have little to no value because they have no independent utility. Indeed, the demand for Vehicles creates the demand for Vehicle Carrier Services.

101. While even a monopolist would increase its prices when the cost of its inputs increased, the economic necessity of passing through cost changes increases with the degree of competition a firm faces. The OEM and dealer markets for new Vehicles are subject to vigorous price competition. The OEMs and dealers have thin net margins, and are therefore at the mercy of their input costs, such that increases in the price of Vehicle Carrier Services lead to corresponding increases in prices for new Vehicles at the OEM and dealer levels. When downstream distribution markets are highly competitive, as they are in the case of new Vehicles shipped by Vehicle Carrier, overcharges are passed through to ultimate consumers, such as the indirect-purchaser Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes.

1        102. Hence, the inflated prices of Vehicle Carrier Services in new Vehicles resulting 2 from Defendants' price-fixing conspiracy have been passed on to Plaintiffs and the other 3 members of the Classes by OEMs and dealers.

4        103. The purpose of the conspiratorial conduct of the Defendants and their co-
5 conspirators was to raise, fix, rig or stabilize the price of Vehicle Carrier Services and, as a direct 6 and foreseeable result, the price of new Vehicles shipped by Vehicle Carriers.

7        104. Economists have developed techniques to isolate and understand the relationship 8 between one "explanatory" variable and a "dependent" variable in those cases when changes in 9 the dependent variable are explained by changes in a multitude of variables, even when all such 10 variables may be changing simultaneously. That analysis - called regression analysis - is 11 commonly used in the real world and in litigation to determine the impact of a price increase on 12 one cost in a product (or service) that is an assemblage of costs.

13        105. Regression analysis is one potential method by which to isolate and identify only 14 the impact of an increase in the price of Vehicle Carrier Services on prices for new purchased or 15 leased Vehicles even though such products contain a number of other inputs whose prices may 16 be changing over time. A regression model can explain how variation in the price of Vehicle 17 Carrier Services affects changes in the price of new purchased or leased Vehicles. In such 18 models, the price of Vehicle Carrier Services would be treated as an independent or explanatory 19 variable. The model can isolate how changes in the price of Vehicle Carrier Services impact the 20 price of new Vehicles shipped by Vehicle Carrier while controlling for the impact of other price-21 determining factors.

22        106. The precise amount of the overcharge impacting the prices of new Vehicles 23 shipped by Vehicle Carrier can be measured and quantified. Commonly used and well-accepted 24 economic models can be used to measure both the extent and the amount of the supra-25 competitive charge passed-through the chain of distribution. Thus, the economic harm to 26 Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes can be quantified.

27        107. By reason of the alleged violations of the antitrust laws and other laws alleged 28 herein, Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes have sustained injury to their businesses or

1 property, having paid higher prices for Vehicle Carrier Services than they would have paid in the 2 absence of the Defendants' illegal contract, combination, or conspiracy, and, as a result, have 3 suffered damages in an amount presently undetermined. This is an antitrust injury of the type 4 that the antitrust laws were meant to punish and prevent.

5 VIII. PLAINTIFFS' CLAIMS ARE NOT BARRED BY THE 6 STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS

7 A. The Statute of Limitations Did Not Begin to Run Because The Plaintiffs Did Not and 8 Could Not Discover Their Claims

9 108. Plaintiffs repeat and re-allege the allegations set forth above.

10 109. Plaintiffs and members of the Classes had no knowledge of the combination or 11 conspiracy alleged herein, or of facts sufficient to place them on inquiry notice of the claims set 12 forth herein, until shortly before the filing of this Complaint. Plaintiffs and members of the 13 Classes did not discover, and could not have discovered through the exercise of reasonable 14 diligence, the existence of the conspiracy alleged herein until September 6, 2012, the date the 15 JFTC announced raids of certain Defendants' offices for their role in the criminal price-fixing 16 conspiracy alleged herein.

17 110. Plaintiffs and members of the Classes are consumers who had no direct contact or 18 interaction with the Defendants, and had no means from which they could have discovered the 19 combination and conspiracy described in this Complaint before the September 6, 2012 raids 20 alleged above.

21 111. No information in the public domain was available to Plaintiffs and members of 22 the Classes prior to the announced raids on September 6, 2012 that revealed sufficient 23 information to suggest that the Defendants were involved in a criminal conspiracy to fix the 24 prices charged for Vehicle Carrier Services. Plaintiffs and members of the Classes had no means 25 of obtaining any facts or information concerning any aspect of Defendants' dealings with OEMs 26 or other direct purchasers, much less the fact that they had engaged in the combination and 27 conspiracy alleged herein.
 28

112. For these reasons, the statute of limitations as to Plaintiffs and the Classes' claims did not begin to run, and has been tolled with respect to the claims that Plaintiffs and members of the Classes have alleged in this Complaint.

B. Fraudulent Concealment Tolled the Statute of Limitations

113. In the alternative, application of the doctrine of fraudulent concealment tolled the statute of limitations as to the claims asserted herein by Plaintiffs and the Classes. Plaintiffs and members of the Classes did not know and could not have known of the existence of the conspiracy and unlawful combination alleged herein until September 6, 2012, at the earliest, the date the JFTC announced raids of certain Defendants' offices for their role in the criminal price-fixing conspiracy alleged herein.

114. Before that time, Plaintiffs and members of the Classes were unaware of Defendants' unlawful conduct, and did not know before then that they were paying supra-competitive prices for Vehicle Carrier Services throughout the United States during the Class Period. No information, actual or constructive, was ever made available to Plaintiffs and members of the Classes that even hinted to Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes that they were being injured by Defendants' unlawful conduct.

115. The affirmative acts of the Defendants alleged herein, including acts in furtherance of the conspiracy, were wrongfully concealed and carried out in a manner that precluded detection.

116. By its very nature, the Defendants' anticompetitive conspiracy and unlawful combinations were inherently self-concealing. Defendants met and communicated in secret and agreed to keep the facts about their collusive conduct from being discovered by any member of the public or by the OEMs and other direct purchasers with whom they did business.

118. Plaintiffs and members of the Classes could not have discovered the alleged combination or conspiracy at an earlier date by the exercise of reasonable diligence because of the deceptive practices and techniques of secrecy employed by the Defendants and their co-conspirators to avoid detection of, and fraudulently conceal, their conduct.

118. Because the alleged conspiracy was both self-concealing and affirmatively concealed by Defendants and their co-conspirators, Plaintiffs and members of the Classes had no knowledge of the alleged conspiracy, or of any facts or information that would have caused a reasonably diligent person to investigate whether a conspiracy existed, until September 6, 2012, when the JFTC announced raids of certain Defendants' offices for their role in the criminal price-fixing conspiracy alleged herein.

119. For these reasons, the statute of limitations applicable to Plaintiffs' and the Classes' claims was tolled and did not begin to run until September 6, 2012.

FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF

Violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act

(on behalf of Plaintiffs and the Nationwide Class)

120. Plaintiffs repeat and re-allege the allegations set forth above.

121. Defendants and unnamed conspirators entered into and engaged in a contract, combination, or conspiracy in unreasonable restraint of trade in violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. § 1).

122. The acts done by each of the Defendants as part of, and in furtherance of, their contract, combination, or conspiracy were authorized, ordered, or done by their officers, agents, employees, or representatives while actively engaged in the management of Defendants' affairs.

123. During the Class Period, Defendants and their co-conspirators entered into a continuing agreement, understanding and conspiracy in restraint of trade to artificially fix, raise, stabilize, and control prices for Vehicle Carrier Services, thereby creating anticompetitive effects.

124. The anticompetitive acts were intentionally directed at the United States market for Vehicle Carrier Services and had a substantial and foreseeable effect on interstate commerce by raising and fixing prices for Vehicle Carrier Services throughout the United States.

125. The conspiratorial acts and combinations have caused unreasonable restraints in the market for Vehicle Carrier Services.

1       126. As a result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and other similarly 2 situated indirect purchasers in the Nationwide Class who purchased Vehicle Carrier Services
3 have been harmed by being forced to pay inflated, supra-competitive prices for Vehicle Carrier 4 Services.

5       127. In formulating and carrying out the alleged agreement, understanding and 6 conspiracy, Defendants and their co-conspirators did those things that they combined and 7 conspired to do, including but not limited to the acts, practices and course of conduct set forth 8 herein.

3 (c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and 4 members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property and are 5 threatened with further injury.

6 (d) By reason of the foregoing, Defendants have entered into agreements in restraint
7 of trade in violation of Tennessee Code Ann. §§ 47-25-101, et seq. Accordingly, 8 Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under Tennessee 9 Code Ann. §§ 47-25-101, et seq.

10 157. Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in 11 violation of the Utah Code Annotated §§ 76-10-911, et seq.

12 (a) Defendants' combinations or conspiracies had the following effects: (1) Vehicle
13 Carrier Services price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout 14 Utah; (2) Vehicle Carrier Services prices were raised, fixed, maintained and stabilized at 15 artificially high levels throughout Utah; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class 16 were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the 17 Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Vehicle Carrier
18 Services.

19 (b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct had a substantial effect on 20 Utah commerce.

21 (c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and 22 members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property and are 23 threatened with further injury.

24 (d) By reason of the foregoing, Defendants have entered into agreements in restraint
25 of trade in violation of Utah Code Annotated §§ 76-10-911, et seq. Accordingly, 26 Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under Utah Code 27 Annotated §§ 76-10-911, et seq.
28

1       158. Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in

4 Carrier Services price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout 5 Vermont; (2) Vehicle Carrier Services prices were raised, fixed, maintained and 6 stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Vermont; (3) Plaintiffs and members of 7 the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and 8 members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for 9 Vehicle Carrier Services.

10       (b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct had a substantial effect on 11 Vermont commerce.

12       (c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and 13 members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property and are 14 threatened with further injury.

15       (d) By reason of the foregoing, Defendants have entered into agreements in restraint 16 of trade in violation of Vermont Stat. Ann. 9 §§ 2453, et seq. Accordingly, Plaintiffs and 17 members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under Vermont Stat. Ann. 9 §§ 18 2453, et seq.

19       159. Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in 20 violation of the West Virginia Code §§ 47-18-1, et seq.

21       (a) Defendants' combinations or conspiracies had the following effects: (1) Vehicle
22 Carrier Services price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout 23 West Virginia; (2) Vehicle Carrier Services prices were raised, fixed, maintained and 24 stabilized at artificially high levels throughout West Virginia; (3) Plaintiffs and members 25 of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and 26 members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for 27 Vehicle Carrier Services.

1 (b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct had a substantial effect on 2 West Virginia commerce.

3 (c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and 4 members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property and are 5 threatened with further injury.

6 (d) By reason of the foregoing, Defendants have entered into agreements in restraint
7 of trade in violation of West Virginia Code §§ 47-18-1, et seq. Accordingly, Plaintiffs 8 and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under West Virginia Code §§ 9 47-18-1, et seq.

10 160. Defendants have entered into an unlawful agreement in restraint of trade in 11 violation of the Wisconsin Statutes §§ 133.01, et seq.

12 (a) Defendants' combinations or conspiracies had the following effects: (1) Vehicle
13 Carrier Services price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout 14 Wisconsin; (2) Vehicle Carrier Services prices were raised, fixed, maintained and 15 stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Wisconsin; (3) Plaintiffs and members of 16 the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and 17 members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for 18 Vehicle Carrier Services.

19 (b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct had a substantial effect on 20 Wisconsin commerce.

21 (c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and 22 members of the Damages Class have been injured in their business and property and are 23 threatened with further injury.

24 (d) By reason of the foregoing, Defendants have entered into agreements in restraint 25 of trade in violation of Wisconsin Stat. §§ 133.01, et seq. Accordingly, Plaintiffs and 26 members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under Wisconsin Stat. §§ 133.01, 27 et seq.
28

1 161. Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class in each of the above states have 2 been injured in their business and property by reason of Defendants' unlawful combination, 3 contract, conspiracy and agreement. Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have paid 4 more for Vehicle Carrier Services than they otherwise would have paid in the absence of 5 Defendants' unlawful conduct. This injury is of the type the antitrust laws of the above states 6 were designed to prevent and flows from that which makes Defendants' conduct unlawful.

7 162. In addition, Defendants have profited significantly from the aforesaid conspiracy.
 8 Defendants' profits derived from their anticompetitive conduct come at the expense and 9 detriment of members of the Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class.

10 163. Accordingly, Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class in each of the 11 above jurisdictions seek damages (including statutory damages where applicable), to be trebled 12 or otherwise increased as permitted by a particular jurisdiction's antitrust law, and costs of suit, 13 including reasonable attorneys' fees, to the extent permitted by the above state laws.

14 THIRD CLAIM FOR RELIEF

15 Violation of State Consumer Protection Statutes

16 (on behalf of Plaintiffs and the Damages Class)

17 164. Plaintiffs repeat and re-allege the allegations set forth above.

18 165. Defendants engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, deceptive or 19 fraudulent acts or practices in violation of the state consumer protection and unfair competition 20 statutes listed below.

21 166. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, 22 deceptive or fraudulent acts or practices in violation of California Business and Professions Code 23 § 17200, et seq.

24 (a) During the Class Period, Defendants marketed, sold, or distributed Vehicle 25 Carrier Services in California, and committed and continue to commit acts of unfair 26 competition, as defined by Sections 17200, et seq. of the California Business and 27 Professions Code, by engaging in the acts and practices specified above.
 28

1 (b) This claim is instituted pursuant to Sections 17203 and 17204 of the California 2 Business and Professions Code, to obtain restitution from these Defendants for acts, as 3 alleged herein, that violated Section 17200 of the California Business and Professions 4 Code, commonly known as the Unfair Competition Law.

5 (c) The Defendants' conduct as alleged herein violated Section 17200. The acts, 6 omissions, misrepresentations, practices and non-disclosures of Defendants, as alleged 7 herein, constituted a common, continuous, and continuing course of conduct of unfair 8 competition by means of unfair, unlawful, and/or fraudulent business acts or practices 9 within the meaning of California Business and Professions Code, Section 17200, et seq., 10 including, but not limited to, the following: (1) the violations of Section 1 of the 11 Sherman Act, as set forth above; (2) the violations of Section 16720, et seq., of the 12 California Business and Professions Code, set forth above;

13 (d) Defendants' acts, omissions, misrepresentations, practices, and non-disclosures, 14 as described above, whether or not in violation of Section 16720, et seq., of the California 15 Business and Professions Code, and whether or not concerted or independent acts, are 16 otherwise unfair, unconscionable, unlawful or fraudulent;

17 (e) Defendants' acts or practices are unfair to purchasers of Vehicle Carrier Services 18 (or Vehicles transported by them) in the State of California within the meaning of Section 19 17200, California Business and Professions Code; and 20 (f) Defendants' acts and practices are fraudulent or deceptive within the meaning of 21 Section 17200 of the California Business and Professions Code.

22 (g) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class are entitled to full restitution and/or 23 disgorgement of all revenues, earnings, profits, compensation, and benefits that may have 24 been obtained by Defendants as a result of such business acts or practices.

25 (h) The illegal conduct alleged herein is continuing and there is no indication that 26 Defendants will not continue such activity into the future.

27 (i) The unlawful and unfair business practices of Defendants, and each of them, as 28 described above, have caused and continue to cause Plaintiffs and the members of the

1 Damages Class to pay supra-competitive and artificially-inflated prices for Vehicle 2 Carrier Services (or Vehicles transported by them). Plaintiffs and the members of the 3 Damages Class suffered injury in fact and lost money or property as a result of such 4 unfair competition.

5 (j) The conduct of Defendants as alleged in this Complaint violates Section 17200 of 6 the California Business and Professions Code.

7 (k) As alleged in this Complaint, Defendants and their co-conspirators have been 8 unjustly enriched as a result of their wrongful conduct and by Defendants' unfair 9 competition. Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class are accordingly entitled to 10 equitable relief including restitution and/or disgorgement of all revenues, earnings, 11 profits, compensation, and benefits that may have been obtained by Defendants as a 12 result of such business practices, pursuant to the California Business and Professions 13 Code, Sections 17203 and 17204.

14 167. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or 15 deceptive acts or practices in violation of District of Columbia Code § 28-3901, et seq.

16 (a) Defendants agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce by 17 affecting, fixing, controlling and/or maintaining, at artificial and/or non-competitive 18 levels, the prices at which Vehicle Carrier Services were sold, distributed or obtained in 19 the District of Columbia

20 (b) The foregoing conduct constitutes "unlawful trade practices," within the meaning 21 of D.C. Code § 28-3904. Plaintiffs were not aware of Defendants' price-fixing 22 conspiracy and were therefore unaware that they were being unfairly and illegally 23 overcharged. There was a gross disparity of bargaining power between the parties with 24 respect to the price charged by Defendants for Vehicle Carrier Services. Defendants had 25 the sole power to set that price and Plaintiffs had no power to negotiate a lower price.
26 Moreover, Plaintiffs lacked any meaningful choice in purchasing Vehicle Carrier 27 Services because they were unaware of the unlawful overcharge and there was no 28 alternative source of supply through which Plaintiffs could avoid the overcharges.

1 Defendants' conduct with regard to sales of Vehicle Carrier Services, including their 2 illegal conspiracy to secretly fix the price of Vehicle Carrier Services at supra-3 competitive levels and overcharge consumers, was substantively unconscionable because 4 it was one-sided and unfairly benefited Defendants at the expense of Plaintiffs and the 5 public. Defendants took grossly unfair advantage of Plaintiffs. The suppression of 6 competition that has resulted from Defendants' conspiracy has ultimately resulted in 7 unconscionably higher prices for purchasers so that there was a gross disparity between 8 the price paid and the value received for Vehicle Carrier Services.

9 (c) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Vehicle Carrier 10 Services price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout the 11 District of Columbia; (2) Vehicle Carrier Services prices were raised, fixed, maintained, 12 and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout the District of Columbia; (3) Plaintiffs 13 and the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs 14 and the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Vehicle 15 Carrier Services.

16 (d) As a direct and proximate result of the Defendants' conduct, Plaintiffs and 17 members of the Damages Class have been injured and are threatened with further injury.
18 Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in 19 violation of District of Columbia Code § 28-3901, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and 20 members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

21 168. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or 22 deceptive acts or practices in violation of the Florida Deceptive and Unfair Trade Practices Act, 23 Fla. Stat. §§ 501.201, et seq.

24 (a) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Vehicle Carrier
25 Services price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout 26 Florida; (2) Vehicle Carrier Services prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized 27 at artificially high levels throughout Florida; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages 28 Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the

1 Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Vehicle Carrier
2 Services.

3 (b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected 4 Florida commerce and consumers.

5 (c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and 6 members of the Damages Class have been injured and are threatened with further injury.

7 (d) Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or 8 practices in violation of Florida Stat. § 501.201, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and 9 members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

10 169. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or 11 deceptive acts or practices in violation of the Hawaii Revised Statutes Annotated §§ 480-1, et 12 seq.

13 (a) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Vehicle Carrier
14 Services price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout 15 Hawaii; (2) Vehicle Carrier Services prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized 16 at artificially high levels throughout Hawaii; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages 17 Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the 18 Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Vehicle Carrier
19 Services.

20 (b) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected 21 Hawaii commerce and consumers.

22 (c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and 23 members of the Damages Class have been injured and are threatened with further injury.

24 (d) Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or 25 practices in violation of Hawaii Rev. Stat. § 480, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and 26 members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

1 170. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or 2 deceptive acts or practices in violation of the Missouri Merchandising Practices Act, Mo. Rev.
3 Stat. § 407.010, et. seq.

4 (a) Missouri Plaintiffs and members of this Damages Class purchased Vehicle Carrier 5 Services for personal, family, or household purposes.

6 (b) Defendants engaged in the conduct described herein in connection with the sale of 7 Vehicle Carrier Services in trade or commerce in a market that includes Missouri.

8 (c) Defendants agreed to, and did in fact affect, fix, control, and/or maintain, at 9 artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which Vehicle Carrier Services were 10 sold, distributed, or obtained in Missouri, which conduct constituted unfair practices in 11 that it was unlawful under federal and state law, violated public policy, was unethical, 12 oppressive and unscrupulous, and caused substantial injury to Plaintiffs and members of 13 the Damages Class.

14 (d) Defendants concealed, suppressed, and omitted to disclose material facts to 15 Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class concerning Defendants' unlawful activities 16 and artificially inflated prices for Vehicle Carrier Services. The concealed, suppressed, 17 and omitted facts would have been important to Plaintiffs and members of the Damages 18 Class as they related to the cost of Vehicle Carrier Services they purchased.

19 (e) Defendants misrepresented the real cause of price increases and/or the absence of 20 price reductions in Vehicle Carrier Services by making public statements that were not in 21 accord with the facts.

22 (f) Defendants' statements and conduct concerning the price of Vehicle Carrier 23 Services were deceptive as they had the tendency or capacity to mislead Plaintiffs and 24 members of the Damages Class to believe that they were purchasing Vehicle Carrier 25 Services at prices established by a free and fair market.

26 (g) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Vehicle Carrier
27 Services price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout 28 Missouri; (2) Vehicle Carrier Services prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and

1 stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Missouri; (3) Plaintiffs and members of 2 the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and
3 members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for 4 Vehicle Carrier Services.

5 (h) The foregoing acts and practices constituted unlawful practices in violation of the 6 Missouri Merchandising Practices Act.

7 (i) As a direct and proximate result of the above-described unlawful practices, 8 Plaintiff and members of the Damages Class suffered ascertainable loss of money or 9 property.

10 (j) Accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief 11 available under Missouri's Merchandising Practices Act, specifically Mo. Rev. Stat. § 12 407.020, which prohibits "the act, use or employment by any person of any deception, 13 fraud, false pretense, false promise, misrepresentation, unfair practice or the concealment, 14 suppression, or omission of any material fact in connection with the sale or advertisement 15 of any merchandise in trade or commerce..." as further interpreted by the Missouri Code 16 of State Regulations, 15 CSR 60-7.010, et seq., 15 CSR 60-8.010, et seq., and 15 CSR 17 60-9.010, et seq., and Mo. Rev. Stat. § 407.025, which provides for the relief sought in 18 this count.

19 171. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or 20 deceptive acts or practices in violation of the Montana Unfair Trade Practices and Consumer 21 Protection Act of 1970, Mont. Code, §§ 30-14-103, et seq., and §§ 30-14-201, et. seq.

22 (a) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Vehicle Carrier
23 Services price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout 24 Montana; (2) Vehicle Carrier Services prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and 25 stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Montana; (3) Plaintiffs and members of 26 the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and 27 members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for 28 Vehicle Carrier Services.

(b) During the Class Period, Defendants marketed, sold, or distributed Vehicle Carrier Services in Montana, and Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected Montana commerce and consumers.

(c) As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class have been injured and are threatened with further injury.

(d) Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of Mont. Code, §§ 30-14-103, et seq., and §§ 30-14-201, et. seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

172. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of the New Mexico Stat. § 57-12-1, et seq.

(a) Defendants agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce by affecting, fixing, controlling and/or maintaining at non-competitive and artificially inflated levels, the prices at which Vehicle Carrier Services were sold, distributed or obtained in New Mexico and took efforts to conceal their agreements from Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class.

(b) The aforementioned conduct on the part of the Defendants constituted "unconscionable trade practices," in violation of N.M.S.A. Stat. § 57-12-3, in that such conduct, inter alia, resulted in a gross disparity between the value received by Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class and the prices paid by them for Vehicle Carrier Services as set forth in N.M.S.A., § 57-12-2E. Plaintiffs were not aware of Defendants' price-fixing conspiracy and were therefore unaware that they were being unfairly and illegally overcharged. There was a gross disparity of bargaining power between the parties with respect to the price charged by Defendants for Vehicle Carrier Services. Defendants had the sole power to set that price and Plaintiffs had no power to negotiate a lower price. Moreover, Plaintiffs lacked any meaningful choice in purchasing Vehicle Carrier Services because they were unaware of the unlawful overcharge and there was no alternative source of supply through which Plaintiffs could avoid the overcharges.

1 Defendants' conduct with regard to sales of Vehicle Carrier Services, including their
2 illegal conspiracy to secretly fix the price of Vehicle Carrier Services at supra-3 competitive levels and overcharge consumers, was substantively unconscionable because 4 it was one-sided and unfairly benefited Defendants at the expense of Plaintiffs and the 5 public. Defendants took grossly unfair advantage of Plaintiffs. The suppression of 6 competition that has resulted from Defendants' conspiracy has ultimately resulted in 7 unconscionably higher prices for consumers so that there was a gross disparity between 8 the price paid and the value received for Vehicle Carrier Services.

9 (c) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Vehicle Carrier
10 Services price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout New 11 Mexico; (2) Vehicle Carrier Services prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized 12 at artificially high levels throughout New Mexico; (3) Plaintiffs and the members of the 13 Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and the 14 members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for 15 Vehicle Carrier Services.

16 (d) During the Class Period, Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected New 17 Mexico commerce and consumers.

18 (e) As a direct and proximate result of the unlawful conduct of the Defendants, 19 Plaintiffs and the members of the Damages Class have been injured and are threatened 20 with further injury.

21 (f) Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or 22 practices in violation of New Mexico Stat. § 57-12-1, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and the 23 members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

24 173. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or 25 deceptive acts or practices in violation of N.Y. Gen. Bus. Law § 349, et seq.

26 (a) Defendants agree to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce by 27 affecting, fixing, controlling and/or maintaining, at artificial and non-competitive levels, 28 the prices at which Vehicle Carrier Services were sold, distributed or obtained in New

1 York and took efforts to conceal their agreements from Plaintiffs and members of the 2 Damages Class.

3 (b) Defendants and their co-conspirators made public statements about the prices of 4 Vehicle Carrier Services that either omitted material information that rendered the 5 statements that they made materially misleading or affirmatively misrepresented the real 6 cause of price increases for Vehicle Carrier Services; and Defendants alone possessed 7 material information that was relevant to consumers, but failed to provide the 8 information.

9 (c) Because of Defendants' unlawful trade practices in the State of New York, New 10 York consumer class members who indirectly purchased Vehicle Carrier Services were 11 misled to believe that they were paying a fair price for Vehicle Carrier Services or the 12 price increases for Vehicle Carrier Services were for valid business reasons; and similarly 13 situated consumers were potentially affected by Defendants' conspiracy.

14 (d) Defendants knew that their unlawful trade practices with respect to pricing 15 Vehicle Carrier Services would have an impact on New York consumers and not just the 16 Defendants' direct customers.

17 (e) Defendants knew that their unlawful trade practices with respect to pricing 18 Vehicle Carrier Services would have a broad impact, causing consumer class members 19 who indirectly purchased Vehicle Carrier Services to be injured by paying more for 20 Vehicle Carrier Services than they would have paid in the absence of Defendants' 21 unlawful trade acts and practices.

22 (f) The conduct of the Defendants described herein constitutes consumer-oriented 23 deceptive acts or practices within the meaning of N.Y. Gen. Bus. Law § 349, which 24 resulted in consumer injury and broad adverse impact on the public at large, and harmed 25 the public interest of New York State in an honest marketplace in which economic 26 activity is conducted in a competitive manner.

27 (g) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Vehicle Carrier
28 Services price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout New

1 York; (2) Vehicle Carrier Services prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at 2 artificially high levels throughout New York; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages
3 Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the 4 Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Vehicle Carrier
5 Services.

6 (h) During the Class Period, Defendants marketed, sold, or distributed Vehicle 7 Carrier Services in New York, and Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected 8 New York commerce and consumers.

9 (i) During the Class Period, each of the Defendants named herein, directly, or 10 indirectly and through affiliates they dominated and controlled, manufactured, sold 11 and/or distributed Vehicle Carrier Services in New York.

12 (j) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available pursuant to 13 N.Y. Gen. Bus. Law § 349 (h).

14 174. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or 15 deceptive acts or practices in violation of North Carolina Gen. Stat. § 75-1.1, et seq.

16 (a) Defendants agree to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce by 17 affecting, fixing, controlling and/or maintaining, at artificial and non-competitive levels, 18 the prices at which Vehicle Carrier Services were sold, distributed or obtained in North 19 Carolina and took efforts to conceal their agreements from Plaintiffs and members of the 20 Damages Class.

21 (b) Defendants' price-fixing conspiracy could not have succeeded absent deceptive 22 conduct by Defendants to cover up their illegal acts. Secrecy was integral to the 23 formation, implementation and maintenance of Defendants' price-fixing conspiracy.
24 Defendants committed inherently deceptive and self-concealing actions, of which 25 Plaintiffs could not possibly have been aware. Defendants and their co-conspirators 26 publicly provided pre-textual and false justifications regarding their price increases.
27 Defendants' public statements concerning the price of Vehicle Carrier Services created 28 the illusion of competitive pricing controlled by market forces rather than supra-

1 competitive pricing driven by Defendants' illegal conspiracy. Moreover, Defendants 2 deceptively concealed their unlawful activities by mutually agreeing not to divulge the 3 existence of the conspiracy to outsiders.

4 (c) The conduct of the Defendants described herein constitutes consumer-oriented 5 deceptive acts or practices within the meaning of North Carolina law, which resulted in 6 consumer injury and broad adverse impact on the public at large, and harmed the public 7 interest of North Carolina consumers in an honest marketplace in which economic 8 activity is conducted in a competitive manner.

9 (d) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Vehicle Carrier 10 Services price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout North 11 Carolina; (2) Vehicle Carrier Services prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and 12 stabilized at artificially high levels throughout North Carolina; (3) Plaintiffs and members 13 of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and 14 members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for 15 Vehicle Carrier Services.

16 (e) During the Class Period, Defendants marketed, sold, or distributed Vehicle 17 Carrier Services in North Carolina, and Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected 18 North Carolina commerce and consumers.

19 (f) During the Class Period, each of the Defendants named herein, directly, or 20 indirectly and through affiliates they dominated and controlled, manufactured, sold 21 and/or distributed Vehicle Carrier Services in North Carolina.

22 (g) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek actual damages for their 23 injuries caused by these violations in an amount to be determined at trial and are 24 threatened with further injury. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair 25 or deceptive acts or practices in violation of North Carolina Gen. Stat. § 75-1.1, et seq., 26 and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available 27 under that statute.

175. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of the Rhode Island Unfair Trade Practice and Consumer Protection Act, R.I. Gen. Laws §§ 6-13.1-1, et seq.

(a) Members of this Damages Class purchased Vehicle Carrier Services for personal, family, or household purposes.

(b) Defendants agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce in a market that includes Rhode Island, by affecting, fixing, controlling, and/or maintaining, at artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which Vehicle Carrier Services were sold, distributed, or obtained in Rhode Island.

(c) Defendants deliberately failed to disclose material facts to Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class concerning Defendants' unlawful activities and artificially inflated prices for Vehicle Carrier Services. Defendants owed a duty to disclose such facts, and considering the relative lack of sophistication of the average, non-business purchaser, Defendants breached that duty by their silence. Defendants misrepresented to all purchasers during the Class Period that Defendants' Vehicle Carrier Services prices were competitive and fair.

(d) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Vehicle Carrier Services price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Rhode Island; (2) Vehicle Carrier Services prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Rhode Island; (3) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Vehicle Carrier Services.

(e) As a direct and proximate result of the Defendants' violations of law, Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class suffered an ascertainable loss of money or property as a result of Defendants' use or employment of unconscionable and deceptive commercial practices as set forth above. That loss was caused by Defendants' willful and deceptive conduct, as described herein.

1 (f) Defendants' deception, including their affirmative misrepresentations and 2 omissions concerning the price of Vehicle Carrier Services, likely misled all purchasers
3 acting reasonably under the circumstances to believe that they were purchasing Vehicle
4 Carrier Services at prices set by a free and fair market. Defendants' affirmative 5 misrepresentations and omissions constitute information important to Plaintiffs and 6 members of the Damages Class as they related to the cost of Vehicle Carrier Services 7 they purchased.

8 (g) Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or 9 practices in violation of Rhode Island Gen. Laws. § 6-13.1-1, et seq., and, accordingly, 10 Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.

11 176. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or 12 deceptive acts or practices in violation of 9 Vermont § 2451, et seq.

13 (a) Defendants agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce in a 14 market that includes Vermont, by affecting, fixing, controlling, and/or maintaining, at 15 artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which Vehicle Carrier Services were 16 sold, distributed, or obtained in Vermont.

17 (b) Defendants deliberately failed to disclose material facts to Plaintiffs and members 18 of the Damages Class concerning Defendants' unlawful activities and artificially inflated 19 prices for Vehicle Carrier Services. Defendants owed a duty to disclose such facts, and 20 considering the relative lack of sophistication of the average, non-business purchaser, 21 Defendants breached that duty by their silence. Defendants misrepresented to all 22 purchasers during the Class Period that Defendants' Vehicle Carrier Services prices were 23 competitive and fair.

24 (c) Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Vehicle Carrier
25 Services price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout 26 Vermont; (2) Vehicle Carrier Services prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and 27 stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Vermont; (3) Plaintiffs and members of 28 the Damages Class were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs and

1 members of the Damages Class paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for 2 Vehicle Carrier Services.

3 (d) As a direct and proximate result of the Defendants' violations of law, Plaintiffs 4 and members of the Damages Class suffered an ascertainable loss of money or property
5 as a result of Defendants' use or employment of unconscionable and deceptive 6 commercial practices as set forth above. That loss was caused by Defendants' willful and 7 deceptive conduct, as described herein.

8 (e) Defendants' deception, including their affirmative misrepresentations and 9 omissions concerning the price of Vehicle Carrier Services, likely misled all purchasers
10 acting reasonably under the circumstances to believe that they were purchasing Vehicle
11 Carrier Services at prices set by a free and fair market. Defendants' misleading conduct 12 and unconscionable activities constitutes unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or 13 practices in violation of 9 Vermont § 2451, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs and 14 members of the Damages Class seek all relief available under that statute.
